FOREWORD

Were we artists we would paint a beautiful picture illustrating college life in all of its phases. Were we poets we would write you a poem that you might better appreciate and remember the happy days which we have spent here in school together. But, then, we are none of these and have only those ordinary qualities which limit an ordinary man to ordinary endeavor. We have done our best to give you that which you well deserve. Take it as such, forgiving us for our short-comings and forgetting our numerous faults as shown in this edition of The PaC SaC. If you like it, we will be glad to receive your commendations; if you don't, forget it and smile anyway, for we have your money and expect to keep it.

To

Mrs. Myrtle Hunter

In sincere appreciation of her unbounded enthusiasm, sympathetic interest, wise counsel, willing co-operation and never-failing optimism, which has been a constant incentive and source of strength to us in all of our activities, we dedicate this volume of The PaC SaC.

Senior Class Poem

(From Rugby Chapel, by Mathew Arnold)

What is the course of life
Of mortal men on the earth?
Most men eddy about
Here and there—eat and drink,
Chatter and love and hate,
Gather and squander, are raised
Aloft, are hurled in the dust.
Striving blindly, achieving
Nothing, and then they die—
Perish;—and no one asks
Who or what they have been
More than he asks what waves,
In the moonlit solitude mild
Of the midmost ocean, have swelled,
Foamed for a moment, and gone.

And there are some, whom a thirst,
Ardent, unquenchable, fires,
Not with the crowd to be spent,
Not without aim to go round
In an eddy of purposeless dust,
Effort unmeaning and vain.
Ah, yes, some of us strive
Not without action to die
Fruitless, but something to snatch
From the dull oblivion, nor all
Glut the devouring grave
We, we have chosen our path—
Path to clear purposed goal,
Path of Advance.

Senior Class

Duncan Curry Alford

LATTA, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk.

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, Recording Secretary, First Monitor; Varsity Baseball, Wearer of "P"; Collegian Staff; Secretary Senior Class; Class Football, Basketball and Baseball.

"Dunc" hails from the thriving little town of Latta. Upon arriving at "Big Dick's" Christian college in the fall of '17 he immediately centered his attention upon becoming a dignified senior. But then certain changes had to take place before he realized his goal, and so step by step he has progressed until at last it is near at hand. "Red" is one of the few fellows on whom one can depend for a smile at any and all times, a pal who can cheer you when you are blue. He has that spirit of good fellowship which wins friends wherever he goes and that staunchness of friendship which holds them for keeps. Believing that variety is the spice of life, he has of late taken into his confidence certain of the fair sex, and for an amateur, it must be conceded, does really well.

A Truce Meet

All the above is true, but then that ain't all. If you knew all that "Dunc" and I know about "Dunc," you'd understand. But then he won't put out any information; in fact, is such an extremist on this point that he won't even divulge content of lessons to the professors. Has a highly cultivated "horse-laugh," a score of stale jokes and an innumerable number of red hairs on his head.

Senior Class

William Rush Blakely

LAURENS, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk.

Entered College '16; Member Eukosmian Literary Society; Class Historian; U. S. Com. Officer '18-'19; Varsity Football '20.

"Rush" came to us from the "commonwealth" of Laurens, but since he was not an original member of our class, we are indebted to him for helping start us in the way we should go. Having received his commission as Second Lieutenant at Plattsburg, he helped train men to "can the Kaiser." This imperial autocrat having been dethroned, "Rush" returned to his Alma Mater and took up his studies again. Although never classed as a varsity man until this past season of football, he has hardly ever missed a practice and stuck with the men through thick and thin; and has thus aided in building up our past brilliant grid-iron records. He is not a "ladies' man," yet is a lady's man by choice. It isn't hard to believe, either.

A Truce Meet

"Rush," once in the Fire Department, now in the mess hall (most of the time), even though "Them 'lasses has specks in 'em." Has "beaucoup" friends (when he gets his car) and one faithful admirer (when he looks in the mirror). Anyway, we all love you so much I never saw, old scout.

Senior Class

Steve Clay Brown

GRIFFEN, GEORGIA

B.A., Euk., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '16; Member Eukosmian Literary Society; Sergeant-at-Arms, Corresponding Secretary, First Monitor, Vice-President, President; Secretary Freshman Class; Vice-President Sophomore Class; Vice-President Senior Class; Assistant Football Manager; Elected Manager Football '18; Elected Business Manager '18 Pac-Sac; U. S. Marine Corps '18-'19; Debating Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Student Council; Business Manager '21 Pac-Sac; Student Assistant in Physics and Chemistry; Treasurer S. C. O. A.

This man is another who did not begin the laborious journey with the present class. Starting a year before the present class, he should have finished with the last year's class, but lost a year by enlisting in marines. For twelve long months he was lost to his Alma Mater while he served his country. His "bit" done, he returned to P. C. and was welcomed with open arms. Steve is a quiet, steady, reliable, broad-minded man. Bickering is no hobby of his. The old maxim, "Think twice before you act," is his bosom friend and guide and to his principle he sticks with the tenacity of a bulldog. He is an excellent student; and so if preparedness be of any value, surely we are safe in saying "Here is a man that will succeed." He can count his friends by the score.

A Truce Meet

"The most cynical, sarcastic, pessimist on the campus." Has been a bachelor all of his life and always will be. If he wants sympathy, affection, success, money or praise, he goes to the dictionary and never worries any one. Now surely you can judge my man. If you can't, make love to him.

Senior Class

Anthony White Dick

OSWEGO, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Chaplain, Corresponding Secretary, First Censor, Critic, President; Debating Council; Glee Club; Pac-Sac Staff; Managing Editor and Editor-in-Chief Blue Stocking; Editor-in-Chief Collegian; Society Declaimer; Winner Orators' Medal; Class Poet; President Sumter County Club; President Y. M. C. A. Cabinet Member; Delegate to Des Moines Convention; Varsity Track (Captain); Varsity Baseball; Wearer "P"; President Student Council; Corporal S. A. T. C.; Sergeant R. O. T. C.; Class Football and Basketball.

"Dick" is a man of whom it can be said "He numbers his friends by his acquaintances." His four years of college life has been used to good advantage, he being a leader in every phase of college life. Not only has he made the track team, of which he is now captain, every year, but he also has two years of baseball to his credit. He has decided to enter the ministry, and after receiving his degree will begin to prepare himself for his life-work at the Seminary. We all forecast for "Dick" a huge success in life.

A Truce Meet

"A. W."—bowlegged with an arrow on his breast, pigeon-toed with a terse cooing-code, won't steal a "base" in baseball, but will "pitch" a tune in Glee Club. In fact, the elements are so mixed up that nature might stand up and say, "This is from Sumter."

Senior Class

Hugh L. Eichelberger

LAURENS, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '15; Member Philomathean Literary Society; Varsity Football (4); All-State Tackle '17-'19-'20; Varsity Baseball (3); President Junior Class; U. S. Army Aviation Corps '18.

Football is this gentleman's hobby, and boys, he surely does play the game. As an all-state tackle ever since he has been in our midst, he has done much toward putting P. C. on the football map and is known throughout the state for his fearless and deadly tackling. His knowledge of the game is as near perfect as the author of the rule book, and if science applied becomes an art, he is an artist on the gridiron. "Uncle" is still another member of our class who began a year before us and then lost a year while serving Uncle Sam. He is destined, we believe, to be a successful business man at whatever phase of it he undertakes. His far-sightedness, good judgment and ingenuity coupled with his impressive personality argue well for such a success. "Ike," here's to you—we wish you luck.

A Truce Meet

"Uncle" is rather childish (in his second childhood) and so must be approached "lightly," for even Jess Willard would respect his feelings, for "Ike" will "tackle" anything. He has the honor (if it be one) of being the first man from the commonwealth of Laurens to graduate from "Big Dick's" Christian college, but then we must not hold this against him too heavily.

Senior Class

Joseph MacJunkin Fant

SANTUC, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk.

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society; Conductor, First and Second Monitor; Blue Stocking Staff; Class Football; S. A. T. C.

Joseph MacJunkin came to us four years ago from that well-known town of S. C.—Santuc. "O. D.," as he is known to us, has given additional proof to that well-established fact that a most imposing structure can be built on a firm foundation. Ever since he has graced us with his presence he has been faithful in preparing his assignments, and as an inevitable result has acquired a vast store of knowledge that should prove useful indeed to him in later life. Fant expects to teach after he receives his degree and contemplates undertaking such a task in his community. Surely they should receive him with open arms, for he is well fitted for such a position. But whatever be your lot or ours, kid, we'll never forget you and the times that we spent together in class rooms.

A Truce Meet

"O. D" is a wonderful piece of landscape, and generous, too. He'll spend all he's got on his worthless carcass and never grumble a bit about it. Always in love with another fellow's girl except at Christmas tide; stays "locked up" most of the time (in his room), but has never missed a meal at P. C. College. Rather loyal, too. Tore himself violently away from his lessons some two years ago and hastened home to help unveil the town pump. And that ain't all.

Senior Class

Andrew Ross Hafner

GAFFNEY, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk.

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, First Monitor, Treasurer, Vice-President of Society; Blue Stocking Staff; Collegian Staff; Pac-Sac Staff; Vice-President of Class; Athletic Council; Manager Tennis Team; Captain Company "B," R. O. T. C.; Tennis Team, Class Football, Basketball and Baseball; Vice-President S. C. Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

"Candy" left the "white lights" of Gaffney four years ago and came to P. C., where he immediately began to prepare himself for his future life-work. Since entering college he has seldom gone to his classes unprepared and as a result expects to receive his diploma this June, which is fair enough. Hafner is rather quiet in his manner, but possesses those characteristic traits that make up a true gentleman; and for this reason his four years' sojourn amongst us has passed rather quickly. He has also taken a part in athletics, having been one of P. C.'s representatives in the annual tennis tournament held in Columbia. "Candy" does not lay claim to being a "heart-breaker," but it is rumored that there is one little girl that is "the idol of his dreams" and that "hearts are trumps." But then rumors will get started anywhere about anything.

A Truce Meet

"Candy"—"A man by any other name would taste as sweet." But then he is a violent flirt (through letters), and a devil in his own home town (when he is away); always dressed up in such a look as Solomon gave the Queen of Sheba (but, of course, wears more), and says little (although he talks a great deal). He has never done anything yet, but is going to; so we feel justly proud of him.

Senior Class

John Daniel Henderson

LITTLE ROCK, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society; Doorkeeper, Second Censor, Chaplain, Corresponding Secretary, Vice-President; Collegian Staff; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Pac-Sac Staff; Secretary Army Y. M. C. A.-P. C.; President Ministerial Band; President D. C. Club; Sergeant R. O. T. C.

"Big Boy," as he is known to his fellow students, has a heart of pure gold. This may be called his outstanding characteristic. Kind, sympathetic, conscientious, being possessed of a keen sense of duty backed by the moral courage to do the right as he sees it. Henderson is a man whom we all admire. In fact, Henderson has been a man upon whom we could always rely to take a part in almost all of the college activities and carry it through successfully. "Big Boy" has decided to enter the ministry, after having received his degree, and we feel sure that his work for the Master will yield an hundredfold. May happiness and success be yours in your commendable undertaking, old scout.

A Truce Meet

"You tell 'em, Big Boy, we'll rare 'round." Here is a man that forms his judgments before his concepts, who has a heart that beats occasionally and a razor that cuts bi-monthly; is a riddle, a parable and a monstrosity all at the same time; was the cuitsquest little solsque in the worldsque after he learned the art of keeping step, and is now on the verge of becoming a lance corporal.

Senior Class

James Blaine Hicklin

ROCK HILL, SOUTH CAROLINA

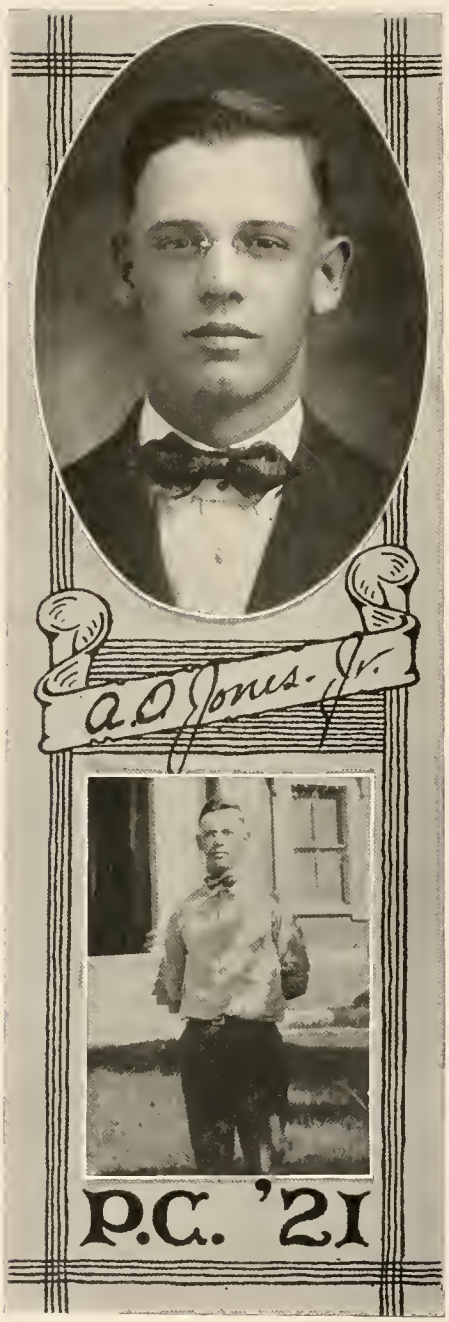
B.A., Euk., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, Conductor, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Critic, Society Declaimer, Commencement Orator, President Society; Class Historian; Secretary and President Debating Council; Local Editor and Editor-in-Chief Pac-Sac; Local Editor and Business Manager Collegian; Blue Stocking Staff; Intercollegiate Debater; Vice-President Student Council; Secretary and Treasurer Y. M. C. A.; President York County Club; Assistant Manager and Manager Basketball; Athletic Council; Class Football and Basketball.

"Hick" has proven to all with whom he has been associated for the last four years that he is a valuable asset to his college. Not only is he capable of wielding the editorial pen to a finish, but he can pour forth a flood of oratory when needed, as from an inexhaustible source. He has always taken an active part in college life. His hobby, however, is writing for the college publications. Hicklin has been blessed with his full share of quality known as grit, and when he tackles a job you may well rest assured that he will not rest easy until it is satisfactorily finished. This trait coupled with with his friendly manner and pleasant smile bids fair to play a large part in securing for him the high degree of success that we feel sure is to be his in after life.

A Truce Meet

"A perfectly good character, but a bad reputation." Nobody knows just how bad he really is—but then that could be said of Jesse James. People accuse him of being anything from a preacher to "the little boy bandit," but have never been able to prove their claims. "You'd be surprised."



Senior Class

Alfred Oscar Jones, Jr.

FORT MILL, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk.

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, Sergeant-at-Arms, Recording Secretary, Critic; Collegian Staff; Pac-Sac Staff; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Debating Council; President Senior Class; President York County Club; Varsity Baseball; Wearer of "P"; First Sergeant Company "A," R. O. T. C.; S. A. T. C.; President Literary Society.

"Shadow" is a man whose popularity has been increasing continuously ever since the first day he has been with us. Quiet and unobstrusive by nature, he made a great many friends in his freshman year, all of which friendships have grown stronger as the years rolled by. In fact, the art of making friends is a habit that characterizes Jones. He has also taken an active part in athletics as well as in other phases of college life, having successfully filled the position as shortstop on the varsity nine. The college publications and Y. M. C. A. are also somewhat indebted to him for their success during the past few years. Jones, as a matter of fact, is an all-round college man and one whom we take pride in pointing out as a student of P. C.

A Truce Meet

"Spitball" Jones—no spitball artist, but an excellent spitter of "the weed." Always mysterious over anything from buying a bag of peanuts to shaking hands with a "Shadow." But then it's his way, and so since it is his, we will pass it over and forgive him for getting our curiosity up so often over nothing.

Senior Class

Kenneth Mobley Kennedy

BLACKSTOCK, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '18; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Secretary; Blue Stocking Staff; Collegian Staff; Historian Senior Class; S. A. T. C.

Kennedy is a quiet, easy going sort of a fellow who has a smile for every one at any time. "Crow" drew his unusual nickname from the fact that because of the attractiveness of his raven locks he has had to worry considerably over the problem of dodging the fair sex. This man entered our ranks in our second year and since then has been a faithful member of our class. He is one of the few whom we may truly term as "smart." However, he could hardly be otherwise, when he bears the cognomen of one of our eminent professors. Since entering P. C., "Crow" has made many friends, all of whom wish him Godspeed on his journey of life.

A Truce Meet

Can do anything he tries, but as yet has never tried anything. Has always been prone to frown upon the ladies' smiles; in fact, has done so so long he has developed dimples in his forehead. Has already found the fourth dimension (but won't work it out for any one) and is about to invent perpetual motion. In later years we may all be able to bank on "Crow."

Senior Class

Lawrence Eramus Kirven

SUMTER, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Corresponding Secretary, Second Censor; Class Poet; Secretary Debating Council; Blue Stocking Staff; Collegian Staff; Pac-Sac Staff; Vice-President and President Sumter County Club; Varsity Football (3); Wearer of "P"; Vig. Committee; Class Football, Basketball and Baseball; R. O. T. C.; S. A. T. C.

Gentlemen, here he is—P. C. from head to foot. Kirven entered college with the rest of us "Rats" and ever since has been an ardent supporter of the Garnet and Blue and of the Class of '21. As a student he has given satisfaction in all of his college work, but has not neglected the sidelines of college life that go to make up a man. Is there any such thing as a football friend? If so, you have it. Built for a player, he has for three years held his own and more in line against the pick of the state. Nor has he been neglectful of the fairer sex. Although we have not fully decided yet where his heart really lies, we strongly suspect that the drawing card is toward the Game Cock city. His favorite song is "Caroline Sunshine." Kirven tells us that he wishes to be a tiller of the soil. Well, old man, with that determination of yours we predict for you a success in any line you choose, and you may be sure that the best wishes and hopes of the '21 Class are with you.

A Truce Meet

Now let us pause a moment in front of "Bull." He's always been a "weighty matter." If it was a football attraction, he was the "center"; in his classes he always took the first place (seat); in a social, he was forever in the limelight, and at the footlight at a vaudeville. He can speak, too, but no one knows it except he (and I?).

Senior Class

Robert Gordon Matheson

FOUNTAIN INN, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Recording Secretary, Treasurer, Critic, President; President Sophomore Class; Editor-in-Chief Blue Stocking; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Pac-Sac Staff; Track Team (2); Vice-President Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President Athletic Association; Debating Council; Student Council; Wearer of "P"; Sergeant R. O. T. C.; Captain Class Baseball and Basketball.

"Christy" is a product of the village of Fountain Inn. During his four years at P. C. as a result of his studiousness, he has successfully absorbed quite a bit of math., philosophy, English, etc., for future reference. In his spare moments he has gradually acquired the art of singing. How, we do not know. One often sees him wandering aimlessly through the groves chanting some melody that we cannot hope to recognize. "(B)Shaw" is his favorite expression and a very modest one. But why that dreamy look comes into his eyes at its utterance, none can explain. But in all seriousness, it may well be said of this man that he has a bountiful supply of good old "horse sense" and a keen sense of humor, which makes him popular with the students and assures him of success to come.

A Truce Meet

"Christy" makes tracks on a track with a team, and without a doubt. His legs are long enough to make great strides in future life and his arms lengthy enough to get his share of life's treasures. Surely with this combination, we have a true success and one destined to have a long life.

Senior Class

Lonnie Sexton McMillian

PRESCOTT, ARKANSAS

B.A., Euk., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '15; Member Eukosmian Literary Society; Football '15, '16, '19, '20; Basketball '16, '17, '20; Baseball '16, '17, '20; Captain Basketball, Baseball and Football; Treasurer Senior Class; Navy '17 and '18.

Now we would like to introduce you to this gentleman from Arkansas who was originally a member of the Class of '18. Lonnie served two years in the Navy, and it is due to this fact that we have the privilege and honor of having him in our class. "Lucile" is an all-round athlete and one of whom any college or university might well be proud. Having been captain of all three varieties of ball gives ample proof of his ability in athletics and the esteem in which he is held by the other members of the teams. His grit and clean sportsmanship have made him one of the most popular athletes in the state. Lonnie is reserved by nature, but never hesitates to stand for what he believes right, is an excellent student, and is as popular among the faculty as among the students.

A Truce Meet

True, his stately bearing forecasts a statesman, but his "policies" do not bear him out. Has been on the football eleven and the football eleven on him; in fact, is a star at any game from "hide and seek" to "black jack." A rather unusual specie of mammal.

Senior Class

John Coffee Neville

CLINTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Euk., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, Recording Secretary; Class Prophet; Class Football and Basketball.

"Coffee" is known by everybody from the newsboy to the police. He is one of the well-met type, a hail goodfellow from the tip of his toes to the end of his pompadour. One never sees him in a sour mood or wearing a worried expression, for he is an optimist under all conditions; the sort of fellow everybody likes. Who knows what John Coffee will finally take as his life-work? But then we may be sure that whatever be his choice, he will carry success always at his side in that "million-dollar smile" that is his for keeps. As we pause before we part on our several different paths we all wish you godspeed, Coffee, and may you always be able to wear that smile.

A Truce Meet

"Coffee," the 1492 model, where the proverb, "Distance lends enchantment," truly strikes his disposition, if it's a girl you're speaking of; 'cause "You've got to go slow and easy." Time is no object with him, for he'll take his time, even when going to a funeral. In fact, we all predict that he will drive a hearse when he gets his "dip."

Senior Class

John Thomas Richardson

NELSON, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, First Censor, Recording Secretary, Vice-President (2); President Freshman Class; Vice-President Sophomore Class; Collegian Staff; Manager Baseball; Athletic Council; Varsity Football (4); Wearer of "P"; Captain Football; Physical Director; First Sergeant and Second Lieutenant R. O. T. C.; First Sergeant S. A. T. C.; Manager Class Baseball and Basketball.

"Rich," or "Laura," as he is known about the campus, came to us four years ago from Nelson. Since that time he has demonstrated his ability in both the class room and on the gridiron. "Laura" has been a faithful student and ranks high in all of the subjects that he has taken. He also holds a gridiron record that is to be envied, having played fullback on the varsity eleven for four years (a thing which few men achieve). To add to this he was elected captain of the squad in his junior year. "Rich" has a friendly disposition and has made many friends among the faculty and the students alike. In losing this man, P. C. falls loser to a good man, but then what she loses his home community gains, for there he will take up his abode.

A Truce Meet

Lord Richardson de Nelson has the unquestionable title of being chief vamp. "Ye do well to call him vamp, who for four long years has vamped all of the Clinton vamps." "Laura" does not cuss, drink or smoke (when he is asleep), and altogether is to be loved (by his friends). Who knows but what he may be President of the U. S. when (the women get more thoroughly organized).

Senior Class

James Leslie Smith

WINNSBORO, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Doorkeeper, First Censor, Recording Secretary; Vice-President Class; Assistant Manager and Manager Baseball; Athletic Council; Wearer "P"; Class Football.

Gentlemen, this is he, the Adonis of our class, and an artist at winning the hearts of the fair sex. One often wonders why little "Jimmie" gets along with the ladies so well. The only explanation that we can offer is that "heart-smashers" are like baseball players, in that they are just born "that a-way." In the ball-room he is at home, and why not, for he can dance with that ease and grace possessed by few. Slender, graceful, friendly, attractive, "Jimmie" is indeed a ladies' man. He acquired many friends in college, who will wish for him a high degree of success in life and who will always keep warm a spot in their heart for him. He has been a good student and will well deserve the "dip" which he will tuck under his arm in June. So here's to you, "Jimmie," and may the paths of life be as smooth for you as the waxen floors over which you are wont to trip so often.

A Truce Meet

Little Jimmie with his butterfly disposition, always seeing double and forgetting the trials and "tests" of this college. If all his girls were dollars he'd be rich, and if all his worries were love affairs he'd have none. Never has been known to keep a secret (over five minutes) nor a dollar (over a dance). Not bad but s-w-e-e-t.

Senior Class

Amon Butler Stallworth

SPARTANBURG, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., Phil., Π Κ Φ

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Chaplain, Critic; Debating Council; Collegian Staff; Pac-Sac Staff; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Managing Editor Blue Stocking; Secretary and Treasurer Junior Class; Varsity Baseball; Manager Football.

Stallworth, although quiet and unassuming, has put a great deal into his college life and consequently is getting a great deal out of it. He is liked by all with whom he has come in contact. Then, too, his class work has been a bit above that of the average student, and so he is also popular with the faculty. "Amon" might be termed the pal of the class. He always greets you with a smile and is considerate and thoughtful in all that he does. These qualities have made him one of the most popular boys in school. So knowing that "That which a man sow, that also shall he reap," we predict for Stallworth a great future.

A Truce Meet

Amon is not to be blamed but pitied. He is one of the few P. C. boys of whom it may be truthfully said goes to sleep with a book in his hand. In fact, it takes but a few moments to accomplish such a feat. It has been whispered that he is a twentieth century business man with a profiteer's disposition, but one would never know it by his accounting books.

Senior Class

Ryan Lee Wood

MACON, GEORGIA

B.A., Phil.

Entered College '17; Member Philomathean Literary Society, Vice-President; Collegian Staff; Secretary Student Council; Manager Track; Member Athletic Council; Lieutenant R. O. T. C.; Class Football, Basketball and Baseball; President Literary Society.

Due to some unexplainable reason, Wood some few years aog came to us from the wilds of Georgia to become civilized. This problem caused the professors much worry, but then miracles are still wrought. You'd hardly recognize him now. However, he came to us with a bright mind and now he stands near the head of his class in all of his studies. Surely he will reap the reward of honest toil both at the termination of this year's work and in the years to come. Wood believes that "Nothing succeeds like success;" and realizing that in order to be a success one must prepare himself, he has diligently and faithfully stuck to his work until he is at last ready for his life-work.

A Truce Meet

A "Georgia Cracker" and a remarkable man at that. Won the race for track manager, when he was badly crippled, by a large margin. Never misses an opportunity to have a social chat with any one that will stop to listen and would just as soon accept 100 per cent as 99 per cent on his class work. Has a lot of "sense" in his educated feet, too.

Senior Class

JOHN D. YARBOROUGH

CLINTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

B.A., EUK.

Entered College '17; Member Eukosmian Literary Society.

This man answers to the name of "John D.," and well is he named with his million-dollar smile. He entered college with the rest of us in the fall of '17, and since that time has experienced college life in all of its phases, gradually developing at length into that specimen of humanity known as educated. He of late has shown a marked tendency to be a ladies' man, and as prerequisite has effected a snappy though somewhat abbreviated moustache. Believing that genius is merely the power of concentrated effort, he has persistently pursued his course in spite of all obstacles and is now ready to receive the first fruits of his labors. We wish you many other rewards in years to come, old pal.

A Truce Meet

John D. is positively the most "Frenchy" strawberry blonde we can claim in our class. He is almost out of our class when it comes to "diking up." He has a suit for every day in the week and Sunday, too; and it can be seen draped around him most any time. But then his "petite moustache" adds wonderfully and "tick-les the girl simply to death."

Senior Class

William Waldo Brimm

CLINTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Pre-Med Special

Entered College 1914; Member Eukosmian Literary Society, Sergeant-at-Arms, Second Monitor, First Monitor, Critic; Pac-Sac Staff, Glee Club, Orchestra; Varsity Basketball; Wearer of "P"; Class Football, Basketball and Baseball. Left College 1918; Re-entered 1920.

No, he isn't a fish—far from it. He is one of the all-around fellows of the Class of '21. "Sophy," as he is called by his classmates, is the kind of a fellow one likes to have around. He is good-natured, friendly and full of fun. "Sophy" is not only a student, he is also a musician of no mean quality. He is never so happy as while he is delightfully entertaining a room full of boys with Hawaiian medleys on his guitar, a feat that he easily accomplishes. His qualities are such as to make him very popular with all those with whom he comes in contact. Luck to you, "Sophy," and may your future life be a repetition of successes (in larger fields of endeavor) that have been yours in your college career.

A Truce Meet

A man who strings his own guitar, plays with his own hands and laughs at his own jokes. (Of course, others laugh at them also.) One who shall ever be heralded for his noble work, when "shadows" were in vogue. "A wonderful, grand man," with the ladies; in fact, could be a social lion if he would only shave more often. Anyway, we are glad to claim him as our special class.

Senior Class Prophecy

BEING dissatisfied with that which we have and as a consequence seeking those things that elevate the mind to loftier heights is a spirit that is manifested while in school. And so, esteemed by the faculty and envied by the lower classmen, we depart, laying aside the derbies, canes and frog moustaches for a greater hold upon life. Who knows but that in later years we may be that which we now aspire. "As a twig is bent, so shall it grow."

Since the nation has gone "bone dry," Crow Kennedy has put in his application for work in a chemical laboratory. "I want to be an alchemist," he told a newspaper correspondent.

Then there is Hicklin, who, inspired by his success as editor of the PAC-SAC, has attained his ambition, and is now editor of Snappy Stories.

Yes, Dick has gone into Africa and has met with surprising success. I am told his congregation call him "Big Dick."

At last Alford has successfully married (and a red-headed girl, at that). Mighty happy, too, down on his farm at Latta raising cows and ducks and chickens and everything.

When we were in school Tom Watson was senator from Georgia. Well, Brown now fills his shoes and has a wonderful future behind him.

"Big Boy" Henderson is a power in his church and has won many souls for Christ.

Blakely, in pursuit of his agricultural profession, has given out this surprising theory for the destruction of the boll weevil. "Don't work the cotton and the boll weevil will starve."

Kirven has continued his work as a wrestler and performed last week in the Majestic at Washington.

Stallworth is now on Wall Street and doesn't go to sleep as easily as was once his habit. He says it would cost money and he is too poor just now to afford it.

There is Richardson, the heart-smasher, who always was partial to the fair sex, running a millinery store with this very striking motto over the door, "Breezy styles selected from snappy ideas."

Hafner, having learned more than he could well hold conveniently, is now passing some of his knowledge to his seminary students in the form of philosophy.

Little did we dream that "Shadow" Jones would ever be accused of settling down, but we find the miraculous has happened and he is now superintendent of the Sabbath school and runs a drug store on the side.

At the end of our senior year Lonnie McMillian had talked almost our entire class into buying insurance. He has been talking ever since and is now head of a large insurance company.

By conservation of energy, Fant has been able to own a wife and a large drug store in Santuc. The latter was such a success that he has put the town pump out of business.

Has anyone seen "Jimmy"? He is selling hot cakes at the coffee restaurant and teaching young girls to dance AT NIGHT.

After finishing here, John Yarborough went to Johns Hopkins, where he got his M.D. He is now at the head of the Yarborough Hospital at Clinton.

Eichelberger still believes in hitting them hard, and as a direct result is now president of the First National Bank of San Francisco.

Matherson, having taught school for a few years, threw his entire energy into the ministry and is now pastor of the Richmond church.

I never did have any fear for Wood, for his motto, "Unto those that toil shall go the spoil," has made him one of the greatest lawyers of Georgia, which was to be expected.

Neville is a collector of curios for the Government and is of national repute. The treasure prized most by him is the ship in which Columbus made his journey to America, in 1492.

This, my classmates, concludes the prophesy of the Class of '21. If in any way I have intimidated any of its members I am sorry, and wish I had more to say.

Junior Class Poem

In the days when Bill the Kaiser
Sent his myrmidons to France,
We arrived upon the campus,
Drawn together by chance.

Then we shouldered our muskets
And we drilled upon the field,
And we learned our K. P. duty,
Learned the bayonet to wield.

Then the Dove of Peace flew o'er us
And the warriors' flag was furled.
So we never our charges
Into German trenches hurled.

Then we turned our thoughts to study,
Flung aside the warrior's spear,
And before we knew what happened
We had passed our freshman year.

Soph'more duties next engrossed us
And in place of war's grim gun
We learned to wield the paddle
And on freshmen had fun.

Though the year sped by so swiftly,
Still we bent us to our task,
And when next we viewed the campus
We were in the Junior Class.

Back again in dear old Clinton,
Gazing from our high estate,
We behold the lordly seniors
Just about to graduate.

We behold, but not with envy,
For we view not far away,
When we ourselves shall enter
On our graduation day.

We know not what the future
Holds for us in years to come,
But the past we leave behind us
Shows that we've been going some.

Class History of '22

FRIENDS, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears. I come not to praise the Class of '22, but to bury its annals in these chapters of her history. As we glance down the corridors of time we find that every alumni member of a college leaves behind him a history written in four chapters. Turn slowly the pages of this, our history, and read the first three chapters.

CHAPTER ONE

PLACE: P. C.-S. C.

TIME: September, 1918-1919

It was the 25th of September when ninety young men heard the call of a higher education and appeared at P. C. ready to play their part. Many of us came to become members of Uncle Sam's S. A. T. C., which took us all in its care; and then very soon many of us for the first time learned to "Squads east" and "Squads west" under the careful supervision of Lieutenant McFarland. During this period, which lasted until December 12, most of our thoughts were toward "the other side of the pond." Very little real class work was done, and during this military life P. C. found it hard to put out a football team, but when the "machine" did appear we found the faces of Durant and J. K. Wilson among them.

On December 12 we all received our discharges, and at this point the curtain falls to the note of "taps."

In January the call for our return was heard, but only sixty of our original number answered. After our return we received our first dose of real college work and literary society tasks. Then, after many months of hard grinding, we were stamped finished product by the "bloody sophomores" and sent home with that superior sensation already creeping into our breasts.

CHAPTER TWO

PLACE: P. C.-S. C.

TIME: September, 1919-May, 1920

On September 15 we were again called to lines of active duty. We are rather sorry to say only fifty of our sixty classmates returned, for during this year we exercised all the active duties of the soph.

It falls to us, as a class, to say with just a bit of just pride that through our organization of class government the present student body government has sprung up and borne fruit. Certainly we may be accredited for breeding the germ that later matured.

Our class during this year furnished many of P. C.'s best athletes. Special mention must again go to Durant, also D. Blakely and J. K. Wilson in football, while Jack Wilson was developed into one of the best basketball guards in the state.

We all labored hand in hand, and by hard, honest work held together until the last whistle on June 1, believing that we had won a great victory by completing this, our second, milestone of college life.

CHAPTER THREE

PLACE: P. C.-S. C.

TIME: September, 1920-May, 1921

Friends, behold the largest Junior Class that has ever roamed the campus of P. C.—thirty intellectual stars.

During this year we began our real college work, many of us preparing our work and courses to coincide with our future life-work.

Before recording our honor men in the literary field, just a word of credit to those three men who helped put P. C. on the football map. D. Blakely, M. A. Durant and Jack Wilson, all artists at the game, were those who wore the laurels, while Durant was mentioned for all-state team. Again Jack Wilson will well represent our class in basketball.

And now let us pause long enough to give due honor to the men that are helping hold up the big end of college, which are divided into the three respective groups—literary, society work and student government. On the Collegian staff we find three men, on the Blue Stocking five, and on the Pac-Sac two. The Philomathean Literary Society records six officers from the Class of '22, while the Eukosmian shows two. The Student Council credits us with five men.

We have all had our ups and downs during this third year of our college course, but through it all we have found pleasure (possibly too much).

Then, in conclusion, may we resolve:

To meet the last year with a smile.
Not stopping at the two-third mark,
But finishing out "the last long mile."

So when our college history is done
May we be ready to begin anew.
To go out and face the world's problems,
Hailing from the Class of '22.

CHAPTER FOUR

PLACE: P. C.-S. C.

TIME: September, 1921-May, 1922

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sophomore Class History

Ancient, 1919-20

WE, the present Sophomore Class, arrived in the beautiful town of Clinton, S. C., on the 9th day of September, in the year of our Lord 1920. Some were for the first time in a CITY. We were escorted to the famous halls of P. C.

We passed our first stepping stone toward our goal as freshmen, receiving the many blessings of the sophs, as tokens of their love for us and in their attempt to prepare us to return good for evil in our years spent in this historic and much beloved college. Well do we all remember the day the rat class posed for their picture, and alas! it was thought that the bottom had dropped out of the sky, but it was only the sophs gleefully pouring water unmercifully upon us. We were truly drowned rats! Never shall we forget the night that some rat became bold and with the help of others dumped a bucket of water down the Pac-Sac chimney. A French class was dismissed, we heard later.

Now that we have recalled the woes and pranks, let's look back for just a moment and recall some of the more serious happenings. We, as freshmen, had representatives on all of the athletic teams. Lee Williamson, Wylie Sholar and William Wade represented us on the football team. Williamson and Scott as sub. basketball men. While Dilling represented us on the track team. On the baseball team we looked to Rodgers as our representative.

Modern, 1920-21

We returned to our studies in the magnificent town of Clinton no longer the green rat, but have reached the place in our college career where we are entitled to the honorable name of sophomore.

We try hard to fulfill our duty as tutors of the rats. However, we are working under a great handicap, "student government." We, nevertheless, have succeeded in administering a few lessons in bed-making, as in the use of the soph paddle.

By the way, we nearly forgot to remind you of the night which we feel sure will never slip the minds which were impressed by the use of ???? liniment. And we might mention here that the man who tilted the bottle of liniment is the man who founded the great organization of student government in this institution. So, my dear fellow students, ladies and gentlemen who by chance read this in future years, know that student government was founded in the Presbyterian College through the honest efforts of a sophomore. So should any man brag to you that he founded student government here, ask him, "Were you a sophomore?"

Our men are taking an active part in athletics and other organizations of this institution. Dendy and Williamson are the men who explain to the Student Council the wants and woes of our class. Sholar, Clowney and Williamson did our light tusseling with the pigskin, while we expect to have three of the basketball team men. Sophs Williamson, Edmunds and Scott. (Here's hoping!)

After consideration of the above, we feel sure that the Class of '23 in future years may yet be a credit to this institution.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History

N that memorable day, September 6, the terrible game began. Every train that rolled up to the depot was a signal that more participants were ready for the "showdown." As the newcomers nimbly set their feet on the soil of Clinton they felt themselves "shrink under the scrutiny of the many upperclassmen and the circles of "fair ones," who thronged about the station. And why all this "couriosity"? Weren't these seekers of learning just boys—boys with features like all other boys?

But the secret of all this strangeness was not withheld from the "courious" very long, for early the next morning these adventurers were informed that they were to be christened with a name as queer as the gaze of the previous day—"rats"! Ugh! what a horrible thing. But they soon discovered that they were indeed as their name would indicate, "horrible" (in the eyes of the sophs). Well, bad as it was, this could be tolerated; but, oh, that introduction to the sophs. ("Say, Tom, I hope that you didn't meet 'Mont' on the first morning. Well, if you did, it was bad for you, if you weren't a good speller.")

And then that "run" uptown the following night. "I'll bet you never saw a bigger bunch of 'niggers' pull on one rope like they did that night. Why, they wouldn't turn loose for anything. There must have been a charm in that cord." Then came the testimonies. "Why, one fellow said that he had come to P. C. to get 'learning,' and another to learn how to plant cabbage seed." Well, there was some Cherry in the punch, so possibly it had turned their heads.

This hilarity seemed to be too much for some of the fame-seekers, for they soon sought other means to pacify the whims of the gay sophs. Finally they hit on a contract to appease the "oppressors." And such a contract. "Say, did you see Brice with that headgear on his crown? Reminded one of the rainbow's last rays, didn't it?" "And how they did enjoy the Amalgamated Order of Expiring Ethiopians! Did you see it? It was reported that one unfortunate got his pants rent in the rush."

"Hurrah! I passed. Now for Christmas vacation." And soon back again at work.

Well, fellows, here we are. We regret the loss of several original members, but those of us who are still in the game can come out with a full set, if we only stick. So here's to you, Class of '24.

GUESS WHO?

An Ode

Sing, heavenly Goddess, for I strive to read my Greek,
How Homer ever wrote the stuff is more than I can think.
They tell me 'tis beautiful, grand poetry and all that;
But still it is all Greek to me; they're talking thru their hat.

Sing, heavenly Goddess, for you sung the Iliad once;
I wish you'd sung it in English, for in Greek I'm a dunce.
Agomemnon and Achilles are about to have a fight,
But I can't dope out the trouble, tho' I've looked up words all night.

Sing, heavenly Goddess, tho' I doubt if Muse herself
Could sing it again, unless half gone with drinking Homer's health.
If Homer lived in modern times and followed learning's track,
I'll bet my boots he'd be so wise he'd always use a "Jack."

Are You True?

Are you true to the trust that was given to you
When at first you left home this life's duties to do,
To the one, who to you, is dearer than brother,
Now tell me, young man, are you true to your Mother?

Are you true to the one who would gladly give all
To you, being tempted not daring to fall;
High ambitions for you he has ever had,
Just tell me, young man, are you true to your Dad?

Are you true to the One who is constantly near,
Your hopes, fears, sorrows and victories to share,
Who shields and defends, tho' assailants press hard,
Pray tell me, young man, are you true to your God?

Now when you are toiling on life's boisterous sea
Recall for a moment your debt to these three,
And thinking on this, as surely you'll do,
Answer justly, young man, can you else but be true?

Purest beauty!
So close to God's own pattern,
Nature's own handiwork.
Drawing us from the more sordid
Things of life;
Lifting us to the highest spheres
And pointing the way to God.

Dearest of all thy treasures;
Fairest of all thy fairness
Is thy maiden beauty.

Walter A. Johnson, Coach

Here is the man who has put P. C. on the football map. He comes from the city "that Slitz made famous," Milwaukee. He is the type of a coach that can take a handful of men and develop them into football warriors that fight as the Spartans did at Thermopylæ. Coach Johnson has been with us five years and in that period he has made an excellent record for P. C. as well as for himself. He is the man that forced Davidson, along with the others, to drink from that bitter cup of defeat. You are the best in the state and we look forward to your 1921 machine. You are loved and respected by all in our midst.

Amon Stallworth, Manager

Here is the manager, and a good one at that. A rather handsome non-combatant who saw it all well done. He is the only manager that has ever carried the Blue Stockings into Georgia and brought back the bacon too. He arranged a good schedule this season, we will all have to admit, although we didn't get to see as many games as we desired on the local field. Amon is a juggler of figures and angles and made money this season. He was always on the job with the chewing gum.

Lonnie McMillian, Captain, Left End

Gaze, O gentle reader, upon Captain McMillian, better known as "Pistol Ball." Lonnie hails from Arkansas and has played four years for P. C., giving her his best. In action he wins the admiration of friends and foe alike and strikes terror into the hearts of those against him. There never faced him a man large enough to scare him and his motto, "The bigger they are the harder they fall," works wonderfully. Lonnie played his last game for his Alma Mater Thanksgiving. We hate to see you go, Lucille, but we will always remember you as a worthy captain, a clean sportsman and a shining star. (All-state team man 1920.)

Hugh L. Eichelberger, Right Tackle

"Ike," with all-state fame, was one of our most active warriors. He knows football from Alpha to Omega and his ability to diagnose plays did much toward enabling P. C. to make the excellent record that she did for the past season. "Ike" has played varsity football four years and not once during this time has an opponent caught him off his guard. As a football player "Ike" is recognized as one of the greatest of the great tackles. He has played his last game for the Garnet and Blue, but we sincerely trust that you will meet with the same degree of success in life that has been yours on the gridiron. (All-state man 1920.)

David Blakely, Left Tackle

"King David" of Hercuban's build has struck terror and agony in the hearts of the men who he has met on the field of battle for the past four years. Dave was a strong and steady player and always hit that line hard. When called upon to carry the old pigskin he would plow the line like a young Sampson, and nine chances out of ten would gain his objective and make it first down with ten to make. We are proud of you, Dave, and are sorry indeed that you will not be able to take your place next year. Good luck. (Johnson's second all-state man 1920.)

Lawrence Kirven, Center

"Bull" originated in the village of Sumter. He has been a member of our victorious team for three years and has put up a stiff fight in every game, and when the play was called over center, Bull always had a road open for him. He was good on defense as well. He was a hard and tireless worker, always keeping the pep and punch in the other fellows as well as himself. "Bull" graduates this year and leaves a yawning gap in the line, but though his place be filled by another, P. C. will always remember him as a lover of the game and one who fought to the finish. (Johnson's all-state team man.)

Marion Durant, Right Guard

"Dewie" is not a very large man for a guard, but he can open up a road that is large enough to drive a wagon through. He was the emotional member of our team, for when tears found their way into his "big brown eyes" he made it tough for his opponent. He smashes interference without trouble and is a sure and hard tackler. He gets anything that comes his way and then some. Agile and light on his feet; physically, every inch a man. We are indeed lucky to have him with us next year. (Johnson's all-state team man.)

Lee Williamson, Left Guard

This lad comes from the "Old North State" and is better known by his mates as "Big Boy," although he weighs only 200 pounds. He is fast charging and hard driving, getting his man before he reaches the line of scrimmage. "Big Boy" always showed up best against strongest teams and was as dependable as a rock. He is very active and always effective, both on defense and offense, an ideal size and build for his position truly. Let's see what you are going to do next year, kid.

James Clowney, Right End

Look, this is "Coon." He is a player that has the "guts" and possesses wonderful endurance. His defensive work at end wrecked many a Davidson play. They never fool him and seldom get him. He is of ideal build and has a swift charge and a low drive, shoestring tackle. "Coon" is a man that we can depend upon and one that fights hard. As a first-year man we consider him a marvel and one of the most promising ends ever seen in the state.

John Richardson, Fullback

Allow me to introduce you to "Laura," our plunging fullback and interference smasher. This is the fourth season he has worn the Blue Stockings. He leaves us this year, and his shoes (as well as his stockings) will be hard to fill. He backed up the line in good fashion, and if an enemy halfback broke through, Laura was on the job and nailed him in his tracks. If we needed an extra touchdown, the pigskin was given to him and he would carry it over. "Laura" loves the ladies and would rather be with them more than anything, except to don a uniform and fight for old P. C.

Wylie Sholer, Right Halfback

This is Sholer, the best looking boy on the team. He is rosy-lipped, black headed and from Sumter. And in this case "Beauty is as beauty does" also. He is a good gainer on off-tackle plays and when called over guard hits them hard and gains before you are able to realize it. Sholer is an artist both in throwing forward passes and in pulling them out of the ether. He is a sure tackle and hits them low and hard. His build and speed has been a valuable asset to him, and as this is his first full year on the team he will have ample opportunity to use it all in years to come. He is an all-round backfield man.

Jack Wilson, Left Halfback

Here is "Jack," the watch-charm halfback, a Clinton product. He is little but loud, tough as leather, fast as lightning, and possesses an unerring eye, picking his openings and then shooting through. He runs a broken field as though he were "Coming through the rye," and shows real ability in returning punts. He can sidestep to perfection and consequently many a man has tried in vain to tag him. Jack is the best man, considering his size, of whom P. C. could ever boast. Boy, we need you in our 1921 machine and look forward to your return. (Johnson's second all-state team man.)

Gene Wilson, Quarterback

Gene hails from the "holy city" of Due West. As a first-year man we must consider him a genius and we are blinded only to think of brilliance that will follow with added experience next year. Gene has a clean, level head, manages his team well and passes the ball with great skill and accuracy. His ability as a punter is unequalled and unlimited. We are looking for you to return next fall and expect lots from you in 1921. (Mentioned second all-state team man.)

Rush Blakely, Substitute Guard

Whenever a substitution was made at guard Rush would go in and our machine would work in its former manner. He is no back number when it comes to football, but Johnny-on-the-spot. He is good on both defense and offense. He is of the reliable variety, with great reserve power and ability as a heady worker. He is indeed a handy article to put in the path of an oncoming horde.

J. K. Wilson, Substitute Tackle

"J. K.," as we know him, weighs 160, and is an excellent substitute for tackle. He is good in the line and gifted with rare football brains, breaks the line almost at his will and spills the runner often. He tackles a man like an undertow and leaves him in doubt as to what hit him. "J. K." has worked hard for the past three years to gain his place on Johnson's team, on which he will take a tackle for keeps in 1921, if his good work continues.

Basketball Season, 1921

THE basketball season of '21 showed great promise of being a successful season, in spite of the fact that only one regular returned; but a wealth of high school material was ready to take their places, and right bravely. "Little" Scott, the lone survivor, became acting captain.

Our first game of the season was with Newberry, and after a hard battle, carried off the bacon. At times during the game P. C. seemed certain of victory, but the Indians rallied and our hopes faded. Scott showed excessive speed and was very successful in finding the basket. Mason proved himself a first-class forward and, in fact, every man on the team deserves mention.

Sweet revenge was reeked on the College of Charleston as they were trampled in defeat by a one-sided score. Eichelberger and Scott played the best ball.

With one defeat and one victory to her credit, P. C. went into the game with Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla., with the determination to settle this condition in her favor. Although the enemy came from a warm climate, they were completely snowed under by points. Williamson played the best ball for the Presbyterians.

Another scalp was hung to the belt of our basketball artist when P. C. met Piedmont College, for after hard playing the score stood 25-22 in our favor. "Ike," "Big Boy" and "Tenor" Edmunds played excellent ball.

In a fast and exciting game the Clemson quintet defeated our five. Both teams played snappy ball and the game was very close. The Presbyterians' shining light was a wee bit of a lad called Scott. The Greenville News speaks of him as the "miniature marvel."

Our hopes were smashed when we lost to Wofford by a score of 16-15. The game seemed to be in our hands until Fate descended against us and gave the last basket to our opponents. "Ike" and Williamson again played good ball.

The Clemson quintet invaded our territory the following week and took our measure in a fast and aggressive game. This was probably the fastest and cleanest game staged here during the entire season.

"It is a long lane that has no turning." The Blue Stockings and Gamecocks met on the night of February 15. P. C. pulled feather after feather from the Gamecock, and when the last feather fell, the count was 17-16 in our favor. "Ike" and Scott featured.

Our next two games were lost. Newberry. Our forwards could not shoot the spheriod through the ring except for six points. It was an off-night for our squad. To follow this, Carolina made the Blue Stockings drink from the bitter cup of defeat. P. C. fought gamely, but without avail. Scott and Eichelberger played good ball.

The basketball "sharks" of the College of Charleston were again defeated by Johnson's men in Charleston. Our last game of the season was played on foreign soil, and after two hard games. While the entire team played good ball, the Citadel had the edge on them through most of the game. And thus we end a successful season, considering the circumstances. With all of our this year's material to be with us again next season, we are expecting a great record next year. Coach Johnson certainly had a problem on his hands at the beginning and showed his training skill by developing such a team as he delivered.

REVIEW OF SEASON

SHORTLY after the close of our basketball season came Coach Johnson's summons for the national game. At first about fifty men assembled on the diamond to pass around the old pill to develop sore arms and expectations of becoming stars before the season closed. Soon the men for the various positions were selected; and then it was that the team began to look for prey. Fate decreed that B. M. I. should be the prey, and the crack of the willow was first heard at College Park on the warm spring afternoon of March 26, and every one knew that the season had begun with a rush. The Presbyterians came from the field victors, having defeated B. M. I., 11 to 9. Captain Beckman was not in his usual form. However, he caused eight men to miss the third strike. The batting of Estes was the feature of the game. The Presbyterians then journeyed to Due West to meet the Seceders, and being on foreign soil, were defeated by a small margin of 4 to 2. Returning to Clinton eager for revenge, they defeated the College of Charleston, 14 to 4, on April 8. It was in this game that George Belk, the Babe Ruth of intercollegiate baseball, featured by securing a home run, triple and single from five trips to the bat.

On April 13 the Blue Stockings were defeated by the fast Wofford nine by a score of 2 to 6. The Presbyterians were next scheduled to play a double-header with the strong Erskine team at Greenwood. The first contest was hard fought, taking twelve innings to decide the winner. In the twelfth inning old man Jinx got a fresh grip on the Presbyterians and an Erskine runner crossed the plate, thus giving his team the long end of a 4 to 3 score. After a few minutes' rest, the teams again took the field, and this, the second battle was called at the end of the seventh inning, Erskine scoring during this last inning, the game ending in a tie, 5 to 5. Thus it was that fate worked continually against us. Bobby Hope was the star of the day and well won the name.

Wofford having defeated us, in spite of two homers knocked by Belk and McMillian, we next tested out Newberry's strength. Bobby pitched a wonderful game, but the hitting was too heavy, and again we gracefully acknowledged defeat. Davidson invaded our territory and carried off the bacon in one of the best games of the season, after which, with the memory of the preceding game fresh in their memory, the Blue Stockings staged a battle royal against the mighty Clemson Tigers, and when the smoke of battle cleared away the score stood 7 to 5 in our favor.

On May 10 P. C. drew up her line of battle against her ancient rival, Newberry, for the classic of the season. Fate, still dogging our heels, had predestined us to lose to the Indians, but by a close margin of 3 to 2, and before the largest crowd of the season.

Our varied success during the season was indeed not to be despised, for we had one of the most thoroughly coached teams in the state and some able material. The two pitchers were both "spitball" artists and caused many a man to strike in vain at the horsehide, while Estes led his teammates in batting honors, his average at the end of the season being .362. Three cheers for the team that could accept a defeat as gracefully as a victory.

Cross-Country Run

Early in September the track men began their training. At that time we had about twenty-five young aspirants, who were eager to exercise their lithe limbs and to become a wearer of the "P." The varsity men in the ranks were Captain A. W. Dick, R. G. Matheson and R. E. Dulin.

"Joggin" was the practice for the first month. After this time, daily races were held and the men were carefully selected to represent P. C. in the cross-country run on Thanksgiving Day.

Turkey Day found the spike-shoe artists in good form. Clemson, Newberry, Wofford and P.C. were represented in this five-mile jaunt through cotton field and swamp. Captain Dick was the first man to break the tape, closely pushed by A. B. Henderson, another son of P. C. These two men finished well in the lead, but Clemson sent her entire team across in a body, thus winning by the small margin of one point—P. C., 22; Clemson, 21. R. E. Dulin will lead next year's aggregation.

EDITOR AND BUSINESS MANAGER

Student Government Rules

IN order that the fresh may also get in disorder and in order that the sophs may "can" their punishments and "preserve" the accused point of discretion, we, Big Dick's Student Body of P. C. College, do pass bye the following declaration of dependence and bid these articles to be framed in a coffin and placed in the Hall of Shame.

ARTICLE 1

Disorders on the campus never allowed except by students of the college and only from September 6 to June 4.

ARTICLE 2

Hazing by the faculty and rats is strictly forbidden.

ARTICLE 3

Firearms must never be pointed at each other if unloaded. Unloaded guns kill.

ARTICLE 4

Card playing for "jack" must be on, but not above board. If you can't cheat, you'd better stay out.

ARTICLE 5

Intoxicating liquors must be passed around to Student Council, if they are not already drunk.

ARTICLE 6

Never go to bed before 12 o'clock, for you might go to sleep.

ARTICLE 7

Lounge and loaf in students' room until midnight, especially if they are trying to study, and are not especially good friends, then leave the door open when you leave.

ARTICLE 8

Following articles for free use: Soap, clothes, razors, stamps, cigarettes, brooms, typewriters and books. Use them at your convenience without asking permission.

ARTICLE 9

Stay uptown and meet all trains, especially if you have classes that conflict.

ARTICLE 10

All students must wear a smile to breakfast and will not be admitted to the mess hall with less on. It developes dimples in your forehead.

ARTICLE 11

This code of laws cannot be changed unless, in case of Article 5, the price of "fire-water" soars again. Punishments will vary as to size of offender. "Rat insane" is exhorted to stick very closely to laws.
